

ATTENDING RESEARCH CONFERENCES “SUCCESSFULLY”

Research conferences are the perfect opportunity to network, present your research, and learn about other cutting-edge research! Whether you are attending a conference for the first time or have been to multiple conferences, with so much happening, they can be overwhelming. This workshop will cover tips on how to prepare including travel, research presentations, networking, and how to dress professionally. Join us and learn how to get the most out of a conference and optimize your experience.

Facilitated by Dr. Ximena Cid, Department of Physics

OCT 4 | 2:30-3:30 PM | LSU 320