Join the Office of Undergraduate Research for a workshop on how to sell your work by properly writing a well-developed abstract for any research paper! Be prepared to learn and understand what an abstract is, its relevance and importance, the basic content and structure, and the importance of following guidelines for research publications and conference presentations. Feel free to bring a digital draft (anything from a short paragraph to a full paragraph), as we will focus this session on editing.

Facilitated by Dr. Monique Turner, Department of Psychology
